

Right values, right people:
recruitment toolkit

Map your organisational values

Map your organisational values

Look through the Common Core of skills, knowledge and values to help you see how each of the four overarching values is defined. Once you have done this, think about your own organisational values, how they are defined and any behaviours or competency frameworks you already have in place.

In the boxes below, write which of your organisational values most closely align to each of the overarching values.

Are there any values your organisation has that the boxes above don't reflect?
Please make a note of them here.
